

ANGAMA

Covid-19 Protocols 1

WELCOME BACK TO THE LOVELY MARA – WE HAVE MISSED YOU

But we have not been idle whilst waiting for your return. The team at the lodge, led by our on property regional director Shannon Davis, who has a medical background, and Irene Osamba, our clinical officer, have put in place all the protocols needed to ensure the health and safety of our guests and staff.

Our challenge was to find the perfect balance between giving our guests a safari of a lifetime whilst ensuring their wellbeing. With this in mind, our approach, simply put, is that we will be led by our guests as to what their needs are and tailor-make their stay around those, whilst our back-of-house protocols are rigorous and in line with government standards.

We respect that not all guests have the same needs with regard to Covid protocols and as such we have drawn up a lighter approach and one that is more rigorous. Ideally, we would like to understand more about our guests before they arrive and any overriding concerns they may have with regard to their health and safety. Happily, our lodge is small and our staff very caring and a bespoke approach will be delivered to all.

Our guests are deeply appreciative of the warm, authentic and caring way in which we look after them - in the past, now and for always. We are more determined than ever to deliver this to them despite the prevailing circumstances. For us, our guests' safety is business as usual due to the environment in which we operate.

With its beautiful wide-open spaces, clean fresh air and the countless animals that call this corner of Africa home, guests will have travelled long distances to reach us in the Mara. We believe that whilst keeping them safe and in good health being here with us will offer them an opportunity to fall in love with the world again.
